My thanks to you all for your presence and presentations yesterday! You were wonderfully poised, informed and enthusiastic and spoke from the head and the heart. Please carry on with this work, and together let's find ways to let the world hear about it. As you heard, there is two-way learning which is happening!

From our end, I believe we achieved the programmatic goals of the videoconference. You were able to present your work to an international audience of experts with your Dean and COBES Director close by. We'll be working on next steps and how to get rid of the technical glitches.

All my best,
Julia
